Remember to block Dani's new blog @/im-so-fucking-tired11

They want to apologize but I don't think they understand what I'm trying to say, and they clearly can't understand the damage they've done to people.

Why was I talking with them? Well, I guess I was just curious what they would say, and I want people to change to be better, but Dani isn't possible of that.

It's unfortunate, but it's true.

@infinite-proship-choco @maggotsinmyskin @strawberry-fiz I forget the other tags sorry.

- "Choco started it!" Evidence proves otherwise.
- "Choco's a pussy by not talking to me!" No one is obliged to talk to you, so you can once again claim you're a poor minor getting bullied.
- "it was a joke!" It was sexual Harassment, your opinion is irrelevant.
- "I'll make a doc on Choco!" Do it.
- "I'll send them to TikTok!" and you and all of TikTok can kiss my ass. Who are you again? the same person who lost a fight to a 6 year old, like a pussy, then pretended to have the high ground by going woe is me I thought they were 24! also the same person who was sent to hospital thinking irl people could hurt you for your bluster, which can and will happen If you continue.
- "Choco has a god complex!" Whose the online poser and clout chaser with delusions of grandeur about being able to force people to listen to them, while being the weakest and softest silk on the internet? whose the one who thinks they can fuck around a community and fling death and rape threats and then complain they don't "get to apologize?" you are, and in your brainless porridge your travestied version of reality exists in, you think anyone will take you seriously.
- "I tried to apologize!" Your fuckass sorry excuses for apologies were not apologies, cut the bullshit because we've all seen and debunked them, they were poor attempts at gaining around you never had to begin with.
- "stop getting me banned!" The consequences of your behaviour will not slow down to let you catch up to realizing you're the sole perpetrator in the situation, you are a loudmouthed banshee, that's all bark and no bite, and mentions harassment with links and hundreds of receipts and victims, from both communities, judging you as guilty for every action, your apologies are and have always been rubbish, always attempting to try scapegoat and savage yourself, you get banned because you break the guidelines, full stop.
- "Choco faked a suicide and stereo-" No one but you has faked a suicide, over ten of them, documented. Weaponized against minors you told to kill themselves after they held you accountable, while I and countless others help suicidal people you make a mockery out of them, no one but you has used people, everyone who conveniently enough didn't want anything to do with you, nobody but you has lied.
- "I'll say it once and I'll die on this hill, if you're a victi-" you can die alone on the hill and excavate a grave you can dig and jump into, a community full of survivors will never, in your life, from an online presence whose accounts have solely been used to freeload drama and start problems with everybody you lose against, will never entertain even listening to a single more second of your bullshit. You're the weakest link, and every time you or the few minions you have left tried to go at me, you got your asses handed to you, time and time again, like the ankle biters you are, and to this day you keep thinking your words mean a thing, didn't you think everyone "manipulated the staff to ban your blogs!" You're the most coddled entitled loser I've seen in my life, and an insult to every person I've seen going through unforgivable amounts of abuse, just so breathing ragebait like you comes up to people's domains and pretends they'll ever be listened to after spitting in everyone's journeys from a distance and crying wolf when the lion spots you in their den.

Wake up to reality, you're an internet nobody, whose lousiest excuse for an online existence is cowardly posturing about sending people to TikTok and shittalking the people you suicide bait, as if people here don't have TikTok as well, as if people don't have your face remembered, as if I couldn't have you swatted in under an hour if you were worth being seen as anything but a gnat and your "threats" were anything but the same joke you are, all you are is bark, Caleb, and no bite, from situations and drama you perpetually start and always proceed to lose, you're an insult to the Tumblr community and the internet as a whole, to survivors and people with journeys you try to leech from constantly, because you can't fathom in your deluded, god complex having, victimhood cultivating spoilery of a life, that no one has to give two shits about you, or anything you have to say.

So, go on, give your little threats, in fact, do it, I'd get you and anyone you bring on TikTok deplatformed, do you know how many people I know? did you know actual criminals have talked about how fed up they were with you? have you realized how much of an online stain you've become to hundreds of people, simply because both the concept of boundaries and the consequences of fucking around and finding out are alien to your placeholder of a brain?

I've been a predator hunter, I know thousands of people and not once have I needed anyone - not followers not otherwise - to humble the fuck out of you, and everyone else you bring up for attention, while you scream about false contacts and TikTok brainrot, I've known people who could find where you and anyone you know live in an hour, and I do not use them.

Because unlike you, Caleb, I'm not an overcompensating, underachieving shitflinging online lolcow, whose biggest accomplishment comes from ragebaiting reactions out of every person they come across, so they can make themselves the victim of their own actions, which is what you, Caleb, have always done, this isn't a fantasy world or your roleplays you can pretend being important and tough in, this is real life.

Stay a footnote on the internet, stay silent, keep mine and everyone's name out of your filthy disgusting mouth, leave communities you don't belong in, and be quiet, crawl away to a far away corner of the someone finally has enough and shuts you up for good.
